SOCIAL MATTERS. By Mountain, Sea and River-Personal

Notes. Prof. H. C. Murray and family of Capitol Hill leave this week for Queenston, Canada, or a two weeks' vaca 'or.

The marriage of Mr. Bertrand C. Moore and Miss Emma J. Smith was quietly celebrated yesterday afternoon at Ali Souls' Church, Rev. Alex. Kent officiating, only the immediate families of the bride and groom being present. Mr. and Mrs. Moore immediately left for a short stay in the mountains.

Miss Mand Lipscomb has returned to her Mt. Pleasant home after a two months' stay in the mountains near Harper's Ferry. Dr. J. Lacy Brayshaw and Miss Ada Downing. sister of Robert Downing, the actor, were mar-ried at All Saints' Church at Bennings on Mon-day evening. The church was beautifully deco-rated with flowers and a lovely wedding bell made out of white lady slippers hung over the chancel. The bride was attired in a white crepe and brocaded satin. There were no bridesmaids, but the bride was preceded to the alter by her two young nieces, who carried baskets of flowers. Rev. Edward Wall, rector of the parish, assisted by the Rev. Wm. Brayshaw, the groom's brother, performed the ceremony. At the conclusion of the marriage ceremonies the happy couple drove to Lynview, where a reception was held at the bride's father's residence, after which an elegant repast was served in honor of the occasion. The wedding gifts were numerous and costly.

Dr. T. A. Bland returned last night from a six weeks' visit to Onset Bay. Mass. Mrs. Bland remains there some weeks yet. Miss Ruth Hutchins of Portsmouth, Va., and

Mrs. Cheny of Powhatan, Md., who have been in the city for several days, will leave this evening for Powhatan. Cards have been issued for the marriage of Mr. Benedict A. Soper and Miss Carrie L. May Official Count of the Population of the State of Washington.

The official count of the population of the state of Washington, with the exception of two supervisors' districts, the returns from which have not yet been received, was completed today by the Census Office. The result of the count as far as completed shows a population of 343,564. The returns for the two districts. it is estimated, will increase this number to about $46,000. Gov. Ferry was at once notified of the result of the count, as the legislature is now in session and the intention is to pass an apportionment bill for the election of all state officers based upon the census returns of popu-

Alleged Omissions of the Enumerators Complained of.

The Census Office has received a letter from the chamber of commerce, Chattanooga, Tenn., under date of August 15, in which the opinion is expressed that omissions have been made in the enumeration of that city. Information is asked as to how these omissions can now be corrected.

Mr. Hyde, who is in charge of the work of enumeration, has written a reply, in which he states that the Census Office "at this late date, upon the simple supposition or Mexico I went to South America, and fought in belief of any number of respectable cit-izens, cannot assent to the assumption of that and came back to the states. I'm tired of it here and I'm off next week to enlist in the thus the work of the enumerators is substantially incorrect. That there are omissions and mistakes is undoubtedly true." Hyde then goes on to speak of the difficulties in the way of making a comparison of the schedules, as those are now in the hands of the also refers to the liability to error arising from badag any opinion upon a city directory. In conclusion he expresses the opinion that the cenens of Chattanooga was as well taken as is possible under a system devised by mere mor-tals.

Food and Not Medicine.

Acting Secretary Spaulding has sustained an appeal from the decision of the collector of customs at Boston assessing duty at the rate of 25 per cent ad valorem as a medicinal preparation on a certain mait extract. The acting secretary holds that the article is not in any sense a medicinal preparation, but a food product, and as such is properly dutiable at the rate of 27 per cent ad valorem as a non-enumerated manufactured article.

He suggested that, in view of the penal nature of this provision of law, it should be construed strictly and that the additional 2 per cent should be levied only for each 1 per cent of the advance. The department approved of his suggestion and instructed him to act accordingly.

FIELD DAY IN THE SENATE. Opening of a Bitter and, in All Probability, a Prolonged Struggle.

MR. BOAR'S OPENING GUN IN PAVOR OF THE ELECTION BILL-ME DRAWS MR. PUGH'S FIRE-A TEREE-CORNERED REPUBLICAN FIGHT-SOME

Quay was active in the Senate this morning as he has never before been. Moving among his supporters and followers, conferring with one and then another, sounding the quality of the courage of one and screwing up the courage of another to the sticking point; he was as if in a political convention, which he so well knows how to manipulate.

A scene in the chamber was expected by the public, who turned out in numbers at the unusual hour of 10 a.m. to half fill the galleries. "mailed hand" of M. S. Quay, esq., of Pennsyl- | Nearly every Senator in the city, republican or democrat, was in his seat when the Quay resotion was called up after some miner morning business was disposed of. At the very outset one democrat felt compelled to break the compact of silence and an incident occurred which promised some interest.

TILT OF MESSES. HOAR AND PUGEL Mr. Hoar stated on opening his speech, after after having offered his two amendments to the resolution, that the only thing that had Sashes are playing a very important part in been heard about the election bill on the floor of the Senate was a threat from a democrat that there would be bloodshed if an attempt were made to execute the law. Mr. Pugh at once interrupted the speaker to repel the statement that he had made use of any threat. He said he had made a prediction, one that had been frequently made in the House and in the press. The banks of a creek which lay in his way and was near his farm are covered with a dense growth of short, stubby shrubbery. Just as he reached a place where the creek could be forded two men sprang from the bushes into the path. Both were masked, and while one of them grasped the bridie rein the other pressed the point of a pistol to Taylor's temple and commanded that he hand over his money. Mr. Taylor, without pistol to Taylor's temple and commanded that he hand over his money. Mr. Taylor, without replying, seized the highwayman, wrenched the pistol from his grasp and was about to shoot him, when the man holding the bridle suddenly struck him a terrible blow in the stomach with a club. Like a log he fell to the ground, and, after emptying his pockets, the scoundrels left him for dead, but the horse, which had become frightened at the struggle, dashed off toward the farm. The empty saddle told the sons of Mr. Taylor that something had happened to their father, and they started on the hunt for him. He was soon found, and was hunt for him. THE NEW REGISTER OF WILLS. Mr. Levi P. Wright Nominated to Succoed Dorsey Clagett, Resigned.

That very desirable position—register of wills for the District of Columbia—will soon be in the hands of a republican, for yesterday afternoon the President sent to the Senate the nomination of Levi P. Wright to be register of wills, vice Dorsey Clagett, resigned. In a general way the nomination was a good deal of a surprise, but it caused no astonishment to either Mr. Clagett or Col. Wright, for the former's resignation had been in the President's hands for more than six months, while Col. Wright was so sure of being appointed that before he left for a vacation in the Adirondacks he instructed a friend to telegraph him when the nomination was made. THE APPOINTEE'S CAREER HERE.

Col. Wright is one of the best-known residents of this city. He came here in 1878 and has always been prominent in local matters. Prompted by the dirty condition of what asphalt paving there was in Washington at that time he invented and put into practical operation the street-sweeping machines now in use, and which will, if given half a chance, do the concrete-cleansing job very thoroughly For several years the colonel had the street sweeping contract, and during his administration there was practically no complaint. After the contract passed into other hands Col. Wright established the Merchants' Parcel Delivery Company. but recently sold out his interest therein, and at present has no active occupation.

COL WRIGHT'S WAR RECORD. He won his title during the war of the rebellion. A New Hampshire man by birth, he was in business in Massachusette when Sumter was fired upon. He immediately raised an artillery command, was appointed a colonel and or dered to report to Gen. Sherman. His active military record is remarkably good, and when herman gave the national songsters a theme y "marching through Georgia" Col. Wright ad charge of all transportation. whether or not the gentleman's remarks were

At the close of the war he went to Chicago and busied himself in numerous profitable en-terprises. The great fire of Chicago swept away much of his worldly goods, but it did not discourage him. He was one of Chicago's po-lice and fire commissioners appointed to reorganize both departments immediately after the fearful conflagration subsided. A sojourn of one year in South America followed and then the colonel came to this city. He has been one of the busiest of men when a repub lican president was on the eve of being inaugurated. Thousands of the visitors who come here quadrennially are indebted to his activity as bairman of the committee on public comfort.

THE OFFICE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION. Those who have had business transactions with the office of the register of wills during Mr. Clagett's incumbency speak in the highest possible terms of his management and of the close personal attention he gave the office. New systems have superseded antique methods in every department, and what was once a difficult task now causes no more trouble than the mere looking up of an index. Everything that would simplify the work of searchers after testamentary information has been done, and when Col. Wright takes charge of the office he will have no reason to find fault with its condition. MR. CLAGETT'S JANUARY INTERVIEW WITH THE PRESIDENT. Mr. Clagett, who has filled the position of register of wills since August 23, 1836, received notification from President Harrison last evening that his successor had been nominated. On the 6th of January last, in obedience to a request from Private Secretary Halford, Mr. Clagett called to see the President. The interview, at the suggestion of the President, was a confidential one. The President stated that he had been visited by a number of persons in the interest of certain parties who wished to succeed bim (Clagett) and asked the incumbent as to the condition of the office. Mr. Clagett frankly in-formed the President that at that time the work of reorganizing the office was in progress and that he would prefer to leave it in good shape, stating that his work in that direction would be completed in a few months. The President remarked that in that case he would defer action. The date suggested by Mr. Clagett passed some weeks ago. When Col. Wright, the appointee, enters upon the duties of the office Mr. Clagett will have the satisfaction of knowing that its affairs will be in the best possible shape, the work all being done

THE OFFICE PORCE. The office is reckoned to be worth $5,000 per annum from fees, but frequently in the cases of small estates some of the fees are only paid pro rata, if at all. The present office force consists, besides the register, of a deputy register, Dr. Griffith, who has held the position for sixteen years; two clerks, two copyists and a messenger. The number of copyists, however, is increased or decreased as the necessities of he work require.

AN ERRONEOUS IDEA has grown up since the nomination yesterday of Col. Wright to be register of wills for the District that the President and his appointee were personal friends. It is doubtful whether the President would know Col. Wright if he saw him. The latter has been to the White House but once and has no more acquaintance with the Chief Magistrate than any American citizen has a right to have.

STARTLING ADVANCE OF WOMAN. Remarkable Success of the Sex in State of Massachusetts.

When Harriet Martineau visited America she astonished Great Britain by writing home 'only seven occupations are open to women.' Now there are upward of three hundred in New York city alone, according to the United States commissioner of labor. Mr. H. G. Wadlin, statistician of the Massa chusetts labor bureau, in his state report has collected some remarkable facts regarding the industrial condition of the women.

In 1885 the female population of the Bay State was 1,009,257, of whom 300,000 were engaged in twenty-one industries. There were 18,000 partners or shareholders in various manufacturing concerns. In 1875 there were 1,395 music teachers and 2,065 in 1885; the shop keepers had increased from 527 to 1,357, the saleswomen from 1,709 to 3.828, the educational teachers from 8,136 to 10,094, the accountants from 1,089 to 27,564, the operators on clothing from 24,845 to 27,564, the operators on cotton goods from 16.554 to $1,521 and the mill hands from 4,000 to 9,150. In the printing and bookinding firms the increase is from 1,170 to 2,340, in rubber and elastic goods from 364 to

In 1875 30,916 women were furnished with home employment; in 1885 the number had fallen to 18,338, showing that the tendency in all industries is more and more toward factory Twenty-five years ago very few women left home for employment; they bound shoes, made caps, shirts, underwear and children's clothing, hats, baskets, mittens, stockings, car-pets and yarn in their kitchens, but all this is changed now. The factories have multiplied, machinery has done away with all hand labor "Woman," Mr. Wadlin says in his report "has made an entrance into the industrial world, has increased her hold upon old branches of occupation and forced her way into many new ones. She is better educated for active employment, better able to grapple with the difficulties of business than ever before, and, having tasted of the sweets of independence by being able to support herself and help thers, one is forced to conclude that woman's position in industry is secure and will be permanent. Every occupation but those calling for too much outdoor exposure or too much muscular labor is open to woman, and if she has not already secured a footing therein the next census will show that she has found a

EASTERDAY & HALDEMAA.,

GOS F at.

RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR SPECULATION.

we have for sale the desirable farm known as the Governor Reed farm, containing 301 acres, adjoining on the north the prosperous village of Charifon Heights. This farm lies beautifully for subdivision, and can, without question, be made very profitable if subdivided into lots or villa sites.

The ground immediately adjoining this farm has sold readily at $2,000 per acre in lots, many of which have been resond at higher rates.

This farm is on the main stem of the Baltimore and Olifo railroad, about 9 unles from the city of Washington. We predict that in a very short time this farm will sell for double the amount asked for it how, even if nothing is done in the way of subdividing. To an immediate purchaser will be sold for the small sum of $125 per acre.
